

Plan Your Own 2026 100 Hole Hike

Youth on Course supporters participating in the 100 Hole Hike commit to playing 100 holes of golf in a single day. Every step and swing helps provide young people with affordable access to golf and the opportunities that come with the game.

If you are selecting your own course, here are a few steps to make that happen:

1. Research Courses

Create a list of courses that could potentially host your 100 Hole Hike. Keep in mind that private courses work best as they are usually willing to host on the day they are closed. You will also want to pay attention to walkability! 100 holes can add up over the course of the day and we want this to be as enjoyable as it is rewarding.

2. Contact Courses

Make contact with the course - in person, if possible. Utilize the Course Recruitment document to help facilitate your conversation. The document will prepare you to answer these common questions:

1. What is Youth on Course?
2. What is the 100 Hole Hike and why are you doing it?
3. What are the benefits to the course?

3. Pick Date and Time

Coordinate with the course to decide on a date and time for the Hike. We recommend a Monday in the fall with an early morning start! Make sure this is approved and agreed upon with the course.

4. Share Details

Reach out to our Hike team at 100holehike@youthoncourse.org with your confirmed details! Please include course, date, times, and let us know whether you'd like your Hike to be closed to the public or if others can join you.

5. Register and Fundraise

Once your course has been added to our registration app, you will register, create your fundraising page, receive helpful tools from us, and start to reach out to your network to support this day-long Hike.
